Here's What Santa Claus Will View on His Ride Tonight

Tonight as Santa and his eight reindeer roar over Hazard this is the view they'll get of the community. From his sleigh high in the sky, Santa can easily pick out the homes where the children are tucked in the bed—fast asleep with 'visions of sugar plums dancing through their heads.'

Christmas Party At McClure Home

Bernice T. Hiser

The agency director the Rev. Mr. R. G. McClure, had a Christmas party for the employees and their spouses 7:00 p.m., Dec. 20 at his home. All were present except Mr. Walter Collins, Roscoe Combs and Bernice Hiser. Her place was taken by Susie. All families were given lovely gifts by the McClures.

Buckhorn High School library sold 430 books to the M. C. Napier High School library Friday. These were duplicates of books already on Buckhorn's shelves. The money will be used to purchase needed supplies and some specific books Buckhorn does not have, among the 7500 donated us since the 1957 flood.

Mr. and Mrs. Crit Keen are taking Christmas with their son, Quentin and family at Richmond where Quentin is employed as dean of men and English professor at E.K.S. College.

The funeral of Mrs. Laura York's great grandchild was held at Mrs. York's home, Thursday. Our sympathy to these who are having a sad Christmas.

The school had an interesting Christmas program Friday afternoon at the Presbyterian Church. It was given by the Buckhorn High School glee club under the direction of our English teacher, Robert D. Moore, plus a special solo by Diane Johnson of the third grade. A number we all enjoyed was a take-off on the folk song "Tom Dooley," sung by Mr. Moore and Daniel Jones, Jr., of Bulan, a special student in the school, in which Mr. Clay Dooley our popular social studies teacher from Owsley, was stand-in for Tom Dooley and Mr. Granville Begley was the cruel hearted hangman who led him away to execution with a hempen cord around his neck.

Superintendent Denis Wooten and Mr. Victor Miniard, principal of M. C. Napier High School were business visitors at our school Friday. They had turkey dinner with us in our cafeteria.

Because of snow, school was dismissed at 10 a.m. last Monday. In order to make up this day of teaching, it was decided that our vacation would end the first of January and we would have school the 2nd instead of coming back the 5th, as formerly planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McClure, and son, Bobby, a student at Berea, left Buckhorn, the 21st for a two week vacation in Florida where the daughter, Diane is a high school student.

Several of the agency children who have been transferred to Pine Mountain, our settlement school in Harlan county, are back at Buckhorn visiting for the Christmas holiday.

Miss Yvonne Eversole is visiting her mother and plans to leave the Agency to make her home with her.

Ora Hiser and Susie were Saturday visitors of the home of brother-in-law, Dave Jones of Bulan this week.

Edward Lee Minter, a freshman at U.K., and Larry Joe, a 11th grader at Berea are home with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Minter, the agency farm manager. Since the agency has enlarged the farm managers house, the family enjoys Buckhorn much better.

Since I last wrote you, the Agency has employed as bookkeeper and office manager Mr. Bill Campbell. Mr. Campbell was married after school ended in May to one of our Buckhorn graduates, Miss Cora Sue Hacker. We all welcome this young couple to Buckhorn.

The junior class now issues the school paper. The first issue showed unusual promise and it is hoped the whole class will benefit from this experience.

Miss Pauline Colwell, a recent Buckhorn graduate, now a senior at Eastern, came home the 20th to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall D. Colwell of Yerkes, our principal and second grade teacher.

Mrs. Rhoda Johnson is now matron of the Big Boys Dormitory, her husbands, Scott having retired after many years service because of illness.

Mr. Elliott Turner, our door-neighbor was recently made janitor of the school on a 12-months basis with a raise in salary. Taking over the job he formerly shared with Mr. Sim Eversole.

This is the first time I have written since we moved into the new school building at Buckhorn. Although it is still not completed, lacking toilets, complete wiring and some painting and ceiling, it is a wonderful improvement over the two little log buildings we had last year, which as any of you who ever saw them the last few years know were unfit for human habitation. The building is 29 feet long.

The first floor is made of concrete block walls with poured concrete floors, and is divided into three rooms, the library 29x37 on the end nearest the high school, a furnace room about 10 feet wide, and on the other end the cafeteria. Of course the cafeteria and furnace room are not used as such yet. The cafeteria is not used at all and the furnace room is a storage room for commodities and extra food.

The second floor has four frame class rooms with cloak-rooms and what are someday to be restrooms between them. There is a long porch on each floor, concrete on the first and frame on the second with a flight of stairs on each end of the first floor porch.

All the rooms are painted pale blue with white celotex ceilings. The library has grey tile on the floor and orange shellac shelves in all a very attractive room.

The rooms are warmed by warm morning heaters, donated by the State Department of Education. All the first four grades with their teachers, Mrs. Nora Reynolds, first; Mrs. Mae Colwell, second; Mrs. Pauline Bowling, third and a few of the fourth and Mrs. Clara Bell Campbell, the rest of the fourth have made their rooms very attractive with posters, shelves, books, and displays while far from being luxurious, the building is much superior to the one we had before.

TRUTH-AD FOR THE UNCHURCHED BY WINN T. BARR

God is our Father by creation. In Him we live and move and have our being as His offspring (Acts 17:28). All you have to do to find God is trace your genealogy! We came from our fathers, they from theirs, and on and on, until we come to the ultimate original Father. There has to be an ultimate Father, for creatures who do not arise from less than themselves. So, God is Father because He is our cause.

But He is also Father because He is our caretaker. In a special sense to all who commit themselves to Him, He is Father by regeneration, as well as creation. In the Lord Jesus Christ God has met our heavy obligations, renewed us, and freed us to serve Him spontaneously. God in rescue extended Himself to us on the first Christmas in the birth of Jesus Christ, that He might receive us by a new birth into His Spiritual family. Father by creation—Father by regeneration through the Christmas deed!

What He has given us, and what the Wise Men gave to Him, inspires us to give ourselves back to Him, and also to our fellow-men.

Look for a TRUTH-AD every Thursday. The good NEWS belongs in the NEWSPAPER, but LOOK in the BOOK it comes from, and SEARCH for the CHURCH that obeys that book most fully.

ROSCOE'S ROUND-UP

Remember the days when you were a child How thrilling was this time of year You could hardly wait for Christmas to come

They didn't have to be told when Santa would come

And fill all their stockings with toys Like beautiful angels they try to be good

All the little girls, and even the boys. Here's hoping that all of you readers of this column will enjoy this Christmas season to the fullest of your desires. BLUE GRASS
Coffee As A Stimulant Is Suggested
— by John Smedley
In this last Edition of The Hazard Herald before Christmas, it is a great pleasure to me to wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year and the best of luck in your traveling during the holidays.

Now, you know one way to be more sure of reaching your destination is to use, oh, well I would suggest coffee as a real stimulant, black, no cream, no sugar, please.
Christmas treats were given out Sunday, Dec. 21st, at the Blue Grass Pentecostal Church of God after Sunday School. The packages contained apples, oranges, candies, P-nuts in the hull, also a fine little pencil with the inscription which read, "The Lord Is My Helper." I'm writing this column with one one. Services were held by the Rev. Kenneth Gaub, also Church Services were held at 6:30 p. m. A large attendance was at both meetings, another welcome visitor in Hazard, the past week was none other than Old Santa himself, he was all over town, meeting and treating the little fellows; he was even letting them have their pictures taken on his knee.

I have written in a column before this one, but something is prompting me to write it again, that when you come across a sign reading "Cross-Road", Stop! by all means, and humor it.
A Merry Christmas to you, there, Phillip Wright, employee of the Shelton Barber Shop on Main St., thanks for the compliment. It was a real Xmas present to me, and I'm glad that you read and appreciate my column in The Hazard Herald.

Also to Richard Sheegog, employee of many years of the L. & N. R. Co., you, too, there, Don Beams, a resident of Hazard, and sole owner of the Beams Electric Co. in Taxi Alley directly behind the Thrifty Thrift Shop and a regular reader of The Hazard Herald.

It has been wisely said, and many times written that the way to a man's heart, is thru his stomach, so feed him good during the holidays, and see if it works.

I'll wind up this column by giving you my version (in part) of the

GREEN BACK DOLLAR
I am that Green Back Dollar, Sure, you've met me before. I like to visit from one to the other

For I can cause sorrow, or happiness galore. Now, friends don't put me away and hoard me, For hoarding, I cannot stand, I like to be on my traveling And go from hand to hand.

I am Epluribus Unum I have comrades that are the same I'm just a wolf in sheep's clothing, For me, people have went down in shame.

I can cause people to call you Mister, Or, I can make them call you a dog, It's all in the way you use me, I can keep your eyes open, or put you in a fog.

Yes, you've owned me, and I've owned you, But that's nothing to brag about It's hard to keep me in your pocket For I always find ways to get out.

Men have torn me to pieces And, thrown me in the fire, They've sent me on evil Missions Still, I left them from the Mire Now, I've been to the bottom of rivers, And to the bottoms of oceans, as well,

But I can't furnish you a ticket to heaven, But, I can be a passport to hell.

Now, just keep my change, I hope to see you after the Holidays. Oh, by the way, just one more holiday caution—

Try to remember that when you are in the right, you can afford to keep your temper, and when you're in the wrong, you can't afford to lose it.

Leatherwood, Oneida Advance Into Finals Of Tourney; Beat K. Come and Benham
Leatherwood and Oneida advanced into the finals of the First Leatherwood Invitational, Monday night, by downing Kingdom Come, 56-39, and tourney favorite, Benham, 51-49, respectively, in opening round games. Leatherwood had an easy night of it as John Hibbard hit for 17 points to pace Coach Delano Combs' quintet to a 35-16 lead at halftime. High for Kingdom Come was B. Coots with 18 points.
Back on the scene for Leatherwood was their ace forward Johnnie Mayhew, out the past three games because of sickness. In a brief appearance, Mayhew got one free throw. A junior, he is averaging over 20 points per game this year.
Oneida pulled the surprise of the tournament by taking a commanding 32-22 halftime lead over favored Benham in the night-cap of the double-header, and then fighting off a second half rally by Benham to win by two points. High for Oneida was L. Smallwood with 20 points; scoring honors for Benham were captured by James with 17 points.

Pawpaw Tree Is 'Poor Relation' Of The Magnolia

Frankfort, Dec. 19 — One of Kentucky's native trees provides a favorite pastime for children in rural areas — pawpaw hunting.

About the pawpaw tree, Bowen Carter, superintendent of wildlife plant food nurseries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, has this to say in the agency's magazine, "Happy Hunting Ground":

The pawpaw is a small tree or large shrub from 19 to 30 feet tall, belonging to the magnolia family, although having little resemblance to any magnolia.

The pawpaw is always found in rich soil and never far up in the hills. Seeds are widely distributed by animals that have eaten the fruit.

To produce fruit the pawpaw requires sunshine. Many wild pawpaw groves produce little or no fruit because they do not get enough sunshine.

The maroon, tulip-shaped flower appears in the spring before the leaves. Ordinarily only a few flowers are produced. Each fertilized flower develops one to four banana-like fruits that ripen in October. Very aromatic, the fruits to many people are delicious to eat. They are extremely perishable and cannot be stored for any length of time.

The leaves are six to 12 inches long and smooth on both sides. They turn light yellow in the early fall.

The average life of the pawpaw tree is about 20 years. At about six years they begin to produce fruit regularly.

The wood is soft and brittle and has no commercial value.

FOLLOWING MY GUIDE

I know I will not miss the way, My Guide is always near. Though trouble often dims the path, I call Him, and He hears.

When darkness gathers 'round me, And my pathway seems dim I know my Guide near me, And I kneel and call to Him.

He leads me through the wilderness, Of heartache and despair When my way is dimmed by gloom, I know my Guide is near,

I am glad that I can follow Wherever He bids me go, Though the way be rough and thorny It will lead me home, I know,

I will follow through the darkness, Though the path I may not see, I feel the presence of my Guide, And I know He is leading me.

I will follow where He leads me, And some glad happy day He will lead me home, to heaven, When life's cares have passed away.

—Rebecca Jones.

Christmas Party For Couples Club

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gorman entertained the members of the couples club with a pot-luck dinner and Christmas party at their home in Daniel Hills Addition, Sunday evening December 21. Gifts were exchanged between the following members and guests: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Combs, Mr. and Mrs. Harold O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Goebel Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fouts, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Combs, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Gullett, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fouts and Mr. Toufeek Shaheen.

W. P. MORYON
Those books that tell you all about the questions that you can expect from kids have got to the point now where Daddy's prepared for about everything from: "What's an aardvark?" to "Where do baby Zebras come from?"

Around this time of year, though, they're useless because they don't answer the only question that really matters: "How can Santa Claus get in when we haven't got a chimney?"

What are you going to tell them? That he bounces back in the back door like the meter reader? That he slips himself under the front door like a grocery store handbill? Or, maybe, that he pulls an Esther Williams and swims in through the kitchen faucets?

Frankly, I'm inclined to worry right along with the kids—one of these Christmas Eves somebody's going to forget to unlock the door, take the weather-stripping off the bottom of the door or unplug the faucets. And, then, is the fat going to be in the fire!

Did you ever think about toning down Santa Claus and telling our kids the real reason for Christmas? I know this is against all good? American business principles. Most of us in business knock ourselves out to SELL, SELL, SELL at Christmas time. I believe sometimes that a lot of us think the Christmas Dollar is a lot more important than the fact that God sent his Son on the first Christmas.

What do you think?
